

Ben >

Or if we know there is foreign terrorist involvement

One thing I should add - from what we hear most of the big banks are actually doing a lot of work already within the terms and conditions of existing account agreements to manage flow of funds if they suspect someone or something. That's an angle we are looking at

iMessage

